Type of activity:

Sport for social change

Short description:

The Sports Network for Social Change brings together 161 institutions that believe in sport as a factor in human development and, together, provide more than 100,000 offers of direct assistance per year. REMS seeks to bring visibility to the work of the organisations, demonstrating the social impact and transforming power of sport, which inspires people, institutions and governments to promote health, human development, ethics and active citizenship. The organisations that make up REMS develop actions related to sport for social transformation, dialoguing with several transversal themes.
