Type of activity:

Sport for social change

Short description:

German Development Cooperation (GIZ) launched a programme in Jordan in 2016 to train female and male coaches, teachers and social workers to apply sport as a tool for promoting values and social competences. Sport creates a safe environment and enables children and youth to encounter peers of diverse backgrounds and to enhance their personal skills such as respect, empathy and self-confidence. With sustainability and broad effects in mind, GIZ closely works together with several strong partners. In cooperation with the Jordan Ministry of Education, the Jordan Football Association (JFA), the Asian Football Development Project and the University of Jordan the programme developed a training curriculum for using sport to foster physical and psycho-social wellbeing. AFDP Global provide projects as "LIFTING THE HEADSCARF BAN", based on their belief that everyone has the right to play football without facing discrimination, "CAMBODIA'S MIGHTY GIRLS" For a fair chance at life, and others.
